

From: jack herndon
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/23/02 5:22pm
Subject: The ill gotten gains of microsoft

Microsoft's illegal threats to cut off contracts if a company offers other types of operating systems is a direct violation of anti-trust laws. Just because the threats have silenced many companies is no reason to throw out the evidence of such events. Because Microsoft's threats hindered the selling of other people's products it is without a doubt that Microsoft is now able to over charge the public with their newest operating systems. Windows XP is horribly over priced simply because they have created such a monopoly that people are afraid to sell other operating systems. Please do what is right for the American people, regardless of the current economic status it is your job to uphold the law and act in the interest of the American people. I ask you to re-evaluate your ruling and no longer act in fear of the economy, it can and WILL stand tall.

John K. Herndon
American tax paying citizen

Do You Yahoo!?
Send FREE video emails in Yahoo! Mail!
<http://promo.yahoo.com/videomail/>